Web Developer

a 28-year old Filipina finding my way to the IT industry. I was lucky enough to be given the opportunity and be a graduate of Hack Your Future, where I was able to maximize the resources available for me to reach my maximum potential in both back-end and front-end development. I'm a fast- learner who embraces new challenges, while striving for competence and excellence. Join me as we explore endless possibilities in this rapidly changing world of technology.
